To whom it may concern,

This letter is to serve as reference for Meghan Delve, an excellent student teacher who was placed in my classroom from September 2021 to the end of January 2022. The school in which she was placed is an inner-city setting and the classroom is completely French Immersion.

Meghan is a very gifted teacher. She is able to create innovative lessons that captivate and maintain the student's interest. She is very open to learning from her peers. Meghan impressed me with her questions, her willingness to learn new teaching strategies as well as openness to accept constructive feedback. During her placement, Meghan created an innovative Francopalooza unit. Through her various activities, students were immersed in the world of French music. The students loved that she chose francophone artists from various countries as well as from the LGBTQ+ community. I was equally impressed with her ability to differentiate her lessons. She was always ensuring that everyone understood the subject being taught. All of her lessons would begin with a recap of what was learned the day before. She made it possible for everyone to participate in everything that was presented.

Meghan will undoubtedly be a valuable asset to any school that she teaches in. She has a wonderful ability to connect with both students and staff. She is open to learning new strategies as well as working with other members on staff. I am certain that she will be very successful in any school that hires her.

Best regards,

Leanne Baril
